How do we collect information from you?

- We obtain information from you when you use our website. This is anonymous usage data and cannot be used to identify you.
- We may collect personal information directly from you when:
 - You contact us by telephone, email or post.
 - You visit our website and by filling our contact forms.
 - We contact you by telephone, email or post.

How do we use your personal data?

- The processing of your personal information may include:
 - Collecting and storing your personal data, whether in manual or electronic files.

- Verifying your identity.
- Entering into a contract to provide you with a service.
- Managing payments, invoices, fees and charges.
- Managing our relationship with you such as notifying you about changes to terms or privacy policies.
- Sending information to third parties with whom we have or intend to enter into arrangements which are related to our services.
- Complying with laws and regulations in applicable jurisdictions.

Why we process your personal data

- Entering into a contract to provide you with a service
 - In order to provide our services, we may enter into a contract with you and/or a third party. In order to enter into a contract we will need certain information, for example your name, address, contact details and payment details.
 - A contract will also contain obligations on both your part and our part and we shall process your data as is necessary for the purpose of those obligations. For example, in order to process invoices, a payment card or bank details will be required.

Managing payments, invoices, fees and charges

- As Necessary for our legitimate interests, we may process your data for purposes of managing invoices and fees for use of the service, as well as to recover debts due to us.

Managing our relationship with you

- In performance of a contract with you, we may use your personal data to request and provide information to be able to provide the service to you; We may also contact you with updates to the service where there is a legitimate interest, or to notify you of changes to programs.

Sending information to third parties

- Your personal data, protection and privacy is very important to us. At no time will we share or sell to a third-party that is not pertaining to the services you have purchased through us.
 - In performance of a contract with you, we may send your personal data to trusted third-parties for the purposes of providing you the service as well as managing the customer relationship.

Complying with laws and regulations in applicable jurisdictions

- We are required to comply with statutory and regulatory obligations relating to business generally, for example complying with tax, bribery, fraud/crime prevention and data protection legislation, and co-operating with regulatory authorities such as HMRC or the Information Commissioner's Office.

Use of non-personally identifiable data

- By using the website, you agree that we can access, aggregate and use non-personally identifiable data we have collected from you.
 - We are not able to gather other information from your disk or computer. We collect a copy of the data held by the cookie for inclusion in any analysis.
 - We use full SSL protocols when collecting visitor information on secure pages; this ensures that the website's security is not compromised.
 - We encrypt all transmitted visitor information so no-one else can read the information we gather.
 - None of the information can be traced to an individual – we do not know who you are as a unique user, merely that there are a certain number of people using the website.
 - We only collect data that relates to what goes on, on our website and the information cannot be used for marketing on an individual basis.

Who has access to your data

- We will never sell or rent your information to third parties, nor will we share your information with third parties for marketing purposes.
 - We may pass your information to our trusted third party service and software providers for the purposes of completing tasks and providing services to you.
 - When we use these third party service providers we only disclose the personal information that is necessary to deliver the services that you expect.
 - All of these companies specialise in the secure storage of information and implement their own privacy policies.
 - We do not store your debit/credit card details. If you choose to pay for the service by debit/credit card, your card details are encrypted and secured by Worldpay (UK) Limited and these details cannot be accessed by any of our representatives.

How to access and update your information

- We always try to maintain the most up-to-date information about you on our records. If you change email address or want us to update or remove any other information we have about you (including the option to completely delete your details), please email us at riddimlionradio@gmail.com with your request.
 - You can also request a full record of all data we have stored that relates to you. Depending on the nature of your request, this may take up to 28 days to process.
 - For more information about your legal rights regarding privacy and your data, please visit the Information Commissioner's Office at ico.org.uk/for-the-public/personal-information.

Data retention

- We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.
 - To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

- By law we have to keep basic information about our customers (including Contact, Identity, Financial and Transaction Data) for six years after they cease being customers for tax purposes.
- In some circumstances we may anonymise your personal data (so that it can no longer be associated with you) for research or statistical purposes in which case we may use this information indefinitely without further notice to you.

Data security

- There are several measures in place to ensure that all personal information you give us is secured to protect your privacy.
 - Any information we receive from you is stored securely either on one of our own servers, or with one of our third party service providers.
 - Where your information can be accessed for use with the service and related customer support channels, we limit who has access to your information, ensuring that only the most necessary employees can see it.
 - We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

Data location and transfers
